A man would much prefer to be handed a bouquet than to be given a piece of your tongue.

Oh, well, it is not so great to be a favorite son of Pennsylvania—that is, if the Pennsylvania Republicans have to pick the favorite.

President Roosevelt said in one of his speeches: "A soiled hand looks as good to me as any other." 'Specially when he turns it up and finds there are four aces in it.

Harriman refused to go on the witness stand and finally got an immunity bath. If others don't profit by his experience they don't know enough to take advantage of precedents.

The Rev. Dr. Long is still waiting for President Roosevelt to apologize for calling him a "nature fakir." He'll have to go on waiting. Judge Parker's "next" comes before Dr. Long's.

The Supreme Court of New York has decided that a man can live wherever he chooses. The decision will hold good till the wives of the New Yorkers decide to the contrary.

The advance in prices is accomplished without a strike, but the strike, rather than Republican prosperity, seems to be responsible for the fact that wages have been advanced so that the thing won't look so one-sided.

The Hon. Wm. J. Bryan's "Commoner" says: "A lot of newspapers that thunder against socialistic government seem well content with government by commissions." Perhaps they will thunder against both when they learn that the one is as bureaucratic as the other is paternalistic.

A Western contemporary remarks: The people in the wheat growing country have ascertained that the ladybug is the sure destroyer of the destructive greenbug, but it is not known how the ladybug does it." Perhaps the ladybugs get the best of the greenbugs by breaking their hearts.

Says the Charlotte Observer: "The Emperors and Kings of Europe have long treated President Roosevelt as a colleague. Last year travelers brought back word from the East that the Arabs were naming their camels "Roosevelt." Now a delegate just returned from the World's Student Christian Federation at Tokio declares that President Roosevelt's name is to the Japanese 'a symbol of greatness.' Next!" Gee! Newspapers certainly do carry a man's name and deeds into places far and near.

HOSTS OF FIREMEN

TEAMS PRACTICING HARD

State and National Records May be Broken—Asheville, Durham, Winston and Salem to Send Big Delegations — Pictures.

The indications continue to multiply that the State Firemen's Association and Tournament to be held in Wilmington in August is going to be the biggest thing going in North Carolina this Summer. It is the one big gathering of the year and Wilmington is preparing to entertain the laddies royally. Each mail brings requests for accommodations and the various departments in the interior are already down to hard work practicing for the various events in the tournament. It is likely that several State and perhaps some National records the to be lowered here. The North Carolina tournament is the fastest in the South and this fact is recognized in a request which came yesterday from a moving picture concern asking for permission to take instantaneous photographs of the races for exhibition purposes. The request will be granted.

Liberty Hose Company and Fire Company No. 1, of Winston, will come in a body, but will not bring the apparatus. The other two Winston companies will send delegates to the convention and tournament. Mr. R. C. Taylor, chief of the Winston department and treasurer of the Association, will attend the convention and tournament. The Salem department will be well represented. Some of the companies will only send delegates, while others will come in a body. The Eagle Hose Company will bring it reel.

The Asheville firemen are holding daily practices in preparation for the tournament. The fire laddies are enthusiastic and have entered heartily into the routine of practice, believing that before the Wilmington tournament comes to a close Asheville will have won more than one first prize. It is stated that indications points to a large delegation of firemen and their friends attending the meeting and tournament. In addition to the firemen who will compete for the prizes, other members of the companies and many friends of the firemen will attend. It is also possible that several members of the board of aldermen may accompany the laddies to Wilmington. The city fathers are the loyal friends of the firemen and it would give them pleasure to witness the participation of the local teams in competition with other cities in the State. The new racing wagon that was secured has given entire satisfaction and the local fire fighters have no fear of defeat when they enter the lists with this wagon and one of the speedy greys that now pull their new hose wagon.

A correspondent writes from Durham:

"The running team of Hose Company No. 2 is practicing daily and getting ready for the Wilmington tournament. A fast company will be taken to Wilmington with Dixie, the gray horse that made such a good record at other tournaments. Tonight there was a joint meeting of the fire department held, being for the purpose of making final arrangements for the tournament and getting in working shape. It is expected that Durham will send from thirty to thirty-five men on this trip."

CHARLES FRANCIS DUFFY

Popular Young Wilmingtonian Passed Away at Home of Mrs. Fowler [illegible]asonboro Sound Yesterday [illegible]ral To-Day

Library of Congress

Many friends learned yesterday with painful sorrow of the death of Mr. Charles Francis Duffy, which occurred at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. P. R. Fowler, on Masonboro Sound. Mr. Duffy had been in very poor health for several years and while his death was not entirely unexpected, it came as a sad blow to family and friends. He was popular in this city where he had spent most of his life and his genial disposition and bright intellect endeared him to almost everyone he met. There are many who will mourn his loss and to the bereaved ones the sympathy of the community will go out.

Charles Francis Duffy was a son of Mrs. Charlotte Gretter Duffy and the late Major P. F. Duffy, for many years associate editor of the Morning Star. The deceased was born in Greensboro, N. C., on January 15th 1880 and he was, therefore, 27 years of age. He was educated in the schools of this city and grew to manhood in Wilmington, being engaged in various pursuits until a few years ago when his health forced him to retire from the more active life and seek to gain that which had been lost in constitution. He spent some time in the mountains and returned to Masonboro Sound where he had been living of late. In spite of all that could be done for him, he gradually grew worse until the end came to relieve his suffering. Mr. Duffy was married in June 1906 to Miss Lillian Fowler, of Masonboro, and she with an infant daughter survive him of his immediate family. There are also surviving his mother, four sisters, Misses Mary, Davie, Carrie and Lottie Duffy, and two brothers, Messrs. James L. and Patrick F. Duffy. They all have the tenderest sympathy of many friends in the bereavement they have suffered.

The remains of Mr. Duffy were brought up from Masonboro to the residence of his mother, No. 10 South Eighth street, yesterday morning and the funeral will be conducted from there at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

SOUTHPORT ROAD

TIDEWATER CONSTRUCTION

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 24.—A charter for another railroad from Southport to Wilmington was granted this morning in the office of the Secretary of State, the capital authorized being one million dollars and the life of the corporation being limited to one hundred years. The name of the company is The Cape Fear, Southport and Atlantic. The incorporators are A. J. Fahneslock, J. E. Reason, Chas. F. Belknap and F. S. Pusey, of Philadelphia; Thos. M. Stranger, of Camden, N. J., and A. P. Bauman, of Raleigh. The company has authority to construct a road from Southport to the South Carolina line and to some point at or near Wilmington, the whole length of the road to be about forty miles. The articles of agreement are lengthy and include specifications as to rights of aquiring lands for and erecting all manner of terminals including coal and grain elevators at both Southport and Wilmington; also the right to merge with any other road.

Another Wilmington corporation chartered today was the Tidewater Construction Company, capital $100,000 by J. C. McEachern, T. W. Davis, J. W. Little and J. A. McGeachey, the purpose being to do general railroad and other contract construction work. It is identified with the large interests of Hugh MacRae & Co., at Wilmington.

The morning session of the Corporation Commission in connection with the hearing on the petition of the Atlantic Coast Line Southern and Seaboard Air Line railroads for the operation of the eight hour law as to railroad operators to be deferred and the companies permitted to keep operators on duty as long as twelve hours was taken up principally with the cross examination of Superintendent W. H. Newell, of the Atlantic Coast Line, whose direct testimony favoring the petitions was taken Saturday. He was questioned as to the duties and the pay of agent-operators at a great number of small stations and operators at block houses specified in the Coast Line petition as desired to be put in a twelve hour class. In conclusion his testimony Superintendent Newell declared that from his own experience and observation an operator agent would be in better mental and physical condition to perform the duties if he was on twelve hours and off twelve than if he were on eight hours the casting about in games or other effort for eight and then sleeping eight hours. He also insisted that in the case of agent operators it would be very unsatisfactory both to the railroads and the public to have two men, one relieving the other in the midst of the day's business and he felt that such arrangement would also prove very unsatisfactory to the operators themselves in actual practice.

The members of the Corporation Commission will go tomorrow with counsel to Asheville to appear before Judge Pritchard in the United States Circuit court and make answer in the injunction and other proceedings instituted against the Corporation Commission and the Attorney General by the Southern, the Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line and other railroad companies against putting into effect the act of the last Legislature fixing passenger rate at 2 1-4 cents and reducing freight rates. The answer on the part of the Commission has been about completed and is already to be presented to the Judge. Counsel are very hopeful of having the case rushed to a speedy settlement and say they are sure of winning out in the legal fight. The Commission and the Attorney General are represented in the litigation to sustain the act by W. E. Daniel, Weldon; Ex-Judge Jas. E. Shepherd, Raleigh; E. A. Woodard, Wilson, and Winston & Bryant, Durham.

Their Infant Son Dead.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Kermon will sympathize with them tenderly in the death of their infant son, Edward Eugene, aged 6 months, which occurred at the family home, 604 South Front street, Sunday morning. The funeral was conducted from the residence at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by Rev. F. N. Skinner and the interment was in Oakdale cemetery.

ALDERMEN TO-NIGHT

Special Meeting of Board to Consider Several Important Matters of Interest.

TO RENEW LIQUIOR LICENSES

Committee at Work on Applications.—Water Works Expert Coming.—Wilmington Day at Exposition. Other Municipal Affairs.

Mayor Springer yesterday afternoon issued the formal call for the special meeting of the Board of Aldermen to be held tonight at the City Hall. This meeting will be a very important one and a number of interesting matters will be taken up.

One of the first subjects will be an appropriation for carrying on the work of the repair of the streets under the arrangement agreed upon at the recent conference of the Street Commissionrs and the Board of Audit and Finance, which arrangement was subsequently accepted by the Streets and Wharves Committee of the Board. The repair work will be carried on in connection with the cleaning of the streets and the Commission has manifested its willingness to turn over this entire work unconditionally to the Streets and Wharves Committee.

Another matter to be taken up will be the renewal of licenses to retail spirituous and malt liquors in the city About 60 of the applications were in yesterday when the committee appointed to examine them met and went over the endorsements, etc., to see that all were in proper shape. This committee consists of Aldermen O'Brien, Northrop and Bolles and each of the applications was carefully scrutinized to see that they were in proper form before being presented to the Board. Fifty of the sixty applications were favorably acted upon but the ten others were referred back to the applicants for certain changes. The committee will meet again today and finally pass upon all of them prior to presenting them to the Aldermen to be granted.

It is expected that at the called meeting the committee on water works will have something interesting to report in the progress of negotiations for the purchase of the present system. It is understood that the committee will have an independent examination made by an engineer for the city and that the water works company will also have an engineer, but the two will not necessarily work in conjunction. Upon the report of the engineer retained by the city will largely depend the price that will be offered the Clarendon Water Works Company for its plant. It is understood that the expert employed on the part of the city will be here today and will begin his investigation of the plant at the earliest possible time. From what can be learned there will be no appraisement of the value of the plant by engineers in common, the committee holding that inasmuch as the city is the buyer it has the right to have the investigation made independently and upon the result of that investigation to say what it is willing to give. It will then be up to the company to say whether or not it will take what is offered. The committee may, however, defer its report in regard to the investigation from the called meeting tonight until the regular meeting in July.

The Mayor is in receipt of a communication from Mr. S. W. Bolles, director of advertising from the Jamestown exposition, suggesting that a "Wilmington Day" be set apart at the big show and that an attractive programme of events be marked out for that day. The Mayor will probably bring the matter to the attention of the Board tonight to ask the pleasure of the Aldermen in this respect, later referring the communication to the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Association for co-operation. The best of feeling obtains between the commercial organizations and the city government and they migh be expected to co-operate in this matter. The letter to the Mayor is as follows.

"Norfolk, Va., June 22nd.

"To The Honorable Mayor:

"Dear Sir: Appreciating the commercial importance of the city of Wilmington, the Board of Governors of the Jamestown Exposition desires to invite your city to have a special day at the Jamestown Exposition, to be known as 'Wilmington Day.'

"If this invitation meets with your favorable consideration will you kindly advise me as to date desired, and a special commissioner will be sent to your city to assist you in arranging for transportation rates, and for an appropriate programme for the observance of 'Wilmington Day.'

"Very truly yours,

"S. W. BOLLES,

"Director of Advertising."

Carolina Beach Sunday.

There was a very large crowd at Carolina Beach Sunday. The concert by Adkins' orchestra during the afternoon was exceptionally fine and delighted a large audience which gathered in the pavilion for this event. The orchestra makes splendid music and will add considerably to the attractions at Carolina Beach this Summer.

WHAT A MAN CAN DO.

The success of the new president of the North Carolina Retail Merchants' Association should be an inspiration to young men. The Raleigh Evening Times calls attention to his achievements in an editorial in which it is said:

"The new president of the North Carolina Retail Merchants' Association began work in Winston-Salem about fourteen years ago at fifty cents a day. N. L. Cranford moved to the Twin-City from Randolph county, carrying with him few things save grit and determination. These two elements, however, combined with a knoweldge of bookkeeping and a good high school education, were enough to bring him to the fore.

"Mr. Cranford's first position was with the tobacco firm of W. B. Taylor & Bro. As assistant bookkeeper at fifty cents a day he made good.

"A few years later, after his salary had been raised to $6 a week, he successfully stood an examination for the railway mail service, and acted as mail clerk for a couple of years. Then he conceived the idea of establishing a clothing store, and, taking a friend in as partner, soon started in the business. From the very beginning the undertaking paid. Today he has one of the finest establishments in North Carolina.

"Mr. Cranford attributes his success to advertising. He placed large and expensive display advertisements in Winston-Salem's two daily papers and in the town's large weekly. He kept his business before the public. When the dull season came on, he increased his advertising space, until after a while his store experienced no dull season. Honest dealing and advertising paid him."

There is in President Cranford's achievement a valuable lesson to young men. They should not be discouraged and give up the fight because they have to work on small pay and do not grow rich at once. It is the patient and plucky young fellow who sticks to business and keeps in the middle of the road who wins. President Cranford seems to have had those qualities and in addition to them he had a good eye when he saw that if took publicity to make them effective. Advertising is the nearest cut to publicity.

FORAKER'S TACTICS.

Senator Foraker, of Ohio, in all probability never dreamed that he could get the nomination for the Presidency, but perhaps he decided that he wouldn't let anybody else from Ohio have the nomination unless it carried with it the agreement that Foraker would be returned to the Senate. Hence his apparent fight against Taft with whom it seems that his relations are not so badly strained after all. At least the Washington correspondent of the New York World wrote a few days ago:

"President Roosevelt today extended the olive branch to Senators Foraker and Dick when he appointed General William V. McMaken collector of internal revenue at Toledo. The Dick followers are working for peace in Ohio, and it is even proposed that Foraker make the speech at the national convention, presenting Taft for the presidency. The Senator performed a similar service for McKinley in 1896 after the peace terms had been arranged. Foraker is so anxious to be returned to the Senate that it is believed he will consent. In announcing the appointment of McMaken President Roosevelt said he selected him because he was the choice of Senators Foraker and Dick, State Chairman Brown and Representative Southard, and because he had been highly recommended by the officers of the National Rifle association, especially General Drain, president of that organization, who called upon the president today. Senator Dick was the first to indorse McMaken who is one of the brigade commanders under Dick, the major general of the Ohio national guard."

So it seems that President Roosevelt steps in and again takes a hand in Ohio politics, like he did when he wanted to keep things settled there in order to be nominated for President himself in 1904. Like as not Foraker has only been on a strike and as his demands have been acceded to he will call it off and go back to work.

OIL IN WATAUGA.

We may hear something interesting from Watauga and Ashe counties, N. C., in the near future. In the Manufacturers' Record, of June 20th, we find this item:

"Watauga County, N. C.—Oil Wells and Copper Mines.—Reported that the State Line Copper Company, M. W. Marsden, president, Philadelphia, Pa., is negotiating for the lease of 10,000 acres of land on Cove creek, in addition to the 3,000 acres on which options have been secured, with a view of prospecting for oil. It has recently purchased property on Elk Knob at $7,000, and will probably develop copper mines."

No particulars of the search for oil were given but it is presumed that there would be no boring unless there are some indications of petroleum. Copper and iron are there in abundance, and if oil is tapped, there will be something doing in Watauga, Ashe, and other counties in the mountain regions of Northwestern North Carolina. It has heretofore been announced that the State Line Copper Company was making preparations to develop its iron and copper holdings on a large scale.

Remarkable Rescue.

That truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper. He writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat. Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had fled, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing soon ceased; the bleding diminished rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work." Guaranteed cure for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 at R. R. THE BREADFRUIT TREE.

Many Ways In Which This Strange Asiatic Plant Is Utilized.

The breadfruit tree is a native of southern Asia, the south Pacific islands and the Indian archipelago. In appearance it resembles somewhat the wild chestnut. It grows to the height of forty or fifty feet and has dark green leaves, many of them two feet in length, which are deeply divided into pointed lobes.

Hidden among the great leaves the breadfruit grows. It is a sorosis, is nearly spherical, often weighs four or more pounds and has a thick yellow rind. This fruit is the chief food of the south sea islanders. They seldom eat a meal without it. The eatable part lies between the rind and the core and when fully ripe is yellow and juicy. It is better for fruit before it has fully matured, and the natives gather it while the pulp is white.

Before it is ready for table use it must be roasted, when it looks like wheat and bread and is both palatable and nutritious. Usually the fruit is cut into three or four slices and roasted or baked in an oven.

Frequently the people of a village join in making a huge oven, in which several hundred breadfruits may be baked at one time. Thus they are all supplied with bread without its costing any of them much labor. Prepared in this way, the bread will keep for weeks.

The breadfruit is in season eight months of the year. When the season finally draws to a close, the last fruits are gathered and made into a sour paste called "mabel." This paste will keep good for months and is made into balls, wrapped in leaves and baked, just as needed.

Bread is not the only product of the breadfruit tree. From it cement, cloth, tinder and lumber are also obtained. A glutinous, milky juice oozes from the trunk of the tree, which makes an excellent cement when boiled with cocoanut oil. From the fibrous inner bark a kind of coarse cloth is made, and the big leaves make good towels. The lumber is used for building houses and many other purposes. Besides all this, the dried blossoms are used as tinder when fires are kindled.

Working the Minister.

"Don't imagine ministers have an easy time," remarked the Brooklyn preacher. "If I gave to every one applying for alms, I would be bankrupt. Then there are agents who always want a minister to purchase their wares so that they may use his name when going to other houses in the neighborhood. Last week a dapper fellow called with an oil painting. He was a good talker, and, although I did not buy the picture, he did persuade me to give him one of my photographs. The next day several of my church people told me that he had visited them, showed them the photograph and succeeded in making sales. A minister's life may seem like a path of roses when viewed from the pew on a Sunday, but there are certainly thorns in it during the week."—New York Post.

DON'T WAIT.

Take Advantage of Wilmington Citizen's Experience Before It's Too Late.

When the back begins to ache,

H. W. Bagg, merchant and furniture manufacturer of Second and Market streets, residing at 114 North Sixth St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they proved to be a grand medicine, and I can only say that Doan's Ointment is the best remedy of the kind on the face of the earth. I suffered with my back for a long time. When I sat at my desk for a while and attempted to get up I would have to catch hold of a chair for support and straighten myself up gradually. The kidney secretions were dark colored and full of sediment. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills in our papers and went to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box. Since using them my back is strong and I can move about and stand up straight as ever and the kidney secretions have all cleared up. You may use my name as an endorser of the claims made for Doan's Kidney Pills and also Doan's Ointment, which I used with good results."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

There is never much kicking about the rules of the game by those who happen to win.

A young person's kind of wit is usually the kind that gives an old person nervous prostration.

If a man tells a lie, which is predominant—his remorse at having told it or his pride in having told one that passed for the truth?

You may think you are lonesome, but you will never know what lonesomeness is until you are on your deathbed and realize that you are going alone.

Every boy who plays around railroad yards and makes a practice of jumping on trains imagines he is a great deal more clever than the one legged men of his acquaintance ever were.—Atchison Globe.

Localized Him.

"What name?" asked the dignified official in charge.

"De Neufeldt," the stranger replied.

"Mon," said the official in a tone of disgust, "we canna fash oorsels wi' names like that at North Berwick. Ye'll stairt in the morn at ten fifteen to the name of Fairgusson."—Blackwood's Magazine.

Progressing.

Miss Weston—And have you played much golf, Mr. Jones? Mr. Jones—Well, no; can't say I've played much, but I've walked round the links several times in golf clothes, and I'm beginning to understand the language.—Illustrated Bits.

Chippendale.

Chippendale not only made chairs, but almost everything in the furniture line, except the one article with which his name has been most frequently associated in later days. We refer to sideboards. It is doubtful if he ever made a sideboard. In his book there is no reference to sideboards, though there are several large tables which he calls "sideboard tables." Though the word sideboard was used long before his day, it is probable that the early English sideboards were merely tables.

The Samian Letter.

The letter Y is called the Samian letter. It is so called because its Greek original was referred to by Pythagoras, the philosopher of Samos, to illustrate how deviation from the straight path of virtue becomes constantly wider as the lines are extended. The poet Pope refers to this idea in the lines:

When reason, doubtful, like the Samian letter,
Points him two ways, the narrower the better.

On the Rack.

The expression "putting a witness on the rack" has an ancient origin. The courts had an unpleasant way of putting a refractory or unsatisfactory witness on the rack, which was an open wooden frame, upon which was laid the victim. His wrists and ankles were tied to two rollers at opposite ends of the frame. The rollers were then moved with levers until the tension caused the body to rise level with the frame, and then questions were addressed to the witness. If he still proved silent or if his memory needed refreshing, the rollers were moved slowly until the wretch's bones started from the sockets.

Granite, the Bedrock of the Earth.

Granite is the bedrock of the world. It is the lowest rock in the earth's crust and shows no signs of animal life. It is from two to ten times as thick as all the other layers of rocks combined. No evidences of life of either animal or vegetable are apparent in granite. The presence of lime is due to animal life. Some scientists assert that all the lime in the world has at some time been a part of some animal. This includes human beings.

No Apology Needed.

"I hope our running the graphophone last night didn't annoy you," said the renter of the third floor flat.

"What?" responded the new renter of the fourth floor flat, producing an ear trumpet.

"I say it's a fine morning!" bellowed the other into the trumpet.—Chicago Tribune.

A Portrait of Wordsworth.

One of Charles Lamb's friends said to him that he had never seen Wordsworth.

"Yes, I suppose so."

"Then you've seen Wordsworth."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Her Dear Friend.

Clara—I wish I could believe what he says, but— Maud—What does he say? Clara—Why, he says he loves me, and he has known me only two days. Maud—Well, perhaps that's the reason.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Hardly a Compliment.

Maid—A gentleman to see you, madam. Mistress—Is it, by chance, my cousin the professor? Maid—No, he doesn't look as clever as that. He looks more as though he might propose to you.—Fliegende Blatter.

His Bluff.

Watchman (discovering a burglar in the act of opening a bank safe)—Hold on! What are you doing there? Burglar—Don't make such a row, old man. I want to see if my deposit is all right. Nobody can trust his bankers nowadays.—London Express.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

MISS KATE A. HEARN

The kidneys are essential organs for keeping the body free from impurities. If they should fail to work death would ensue in very short time.

Inflammation or irritation caused by some feminine derangement may spread to some extent to the Kidneys and affect them, The cause can be so far removed by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that the trouble will disappear.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, swelling of the limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

It may be the means of saving her life. Read what this medicine did for Kate A. Hearn, 520 West 47th Street, New York, who writes:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I owe a debt of gratitude to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it has saved my life. I suffered with Kidney trouble, irregularities and painful periods, and my blood was fast turning to water. I used your medicine for some time and it has made me strong and well."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs cures Female Complaints, such as Falling and Displacements, and Organic Diseases. Dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage. It strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility and invigorates the whole system. For derangement of the Kidneys in either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female illness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is free.

—The work of repairing the bowling alleys at Lumina has been completed and the alleys are now in finer condition than ever before. The alleys will be open to the public today. It is probable that the Consolidated Company will again offer a series of $5 prizes for the highest scores each week during the season.

—The Clyde Liner Mohican, 1,770 tons, Capt. Googins, arrived in port yesterday morning in place of the Navahoe, regularly on this line. The Mohican comes from the Boston, Brunswick and Charleston line, and will clear from here to Jacksonville, Fla. The Navahoe made her regular trip to Georgetown this week.

—The schooner Elizabeth T. Doyle, Capt. Green, cleared yesterday for New York, with cargo of 16,200 crossties consigned by Henry J. Spooner, Jr. The Doyle refused to pay pilotage upon her arrival, but before clearing yesterday deposited amount of pilotage with Capt. Maffitt, the ship's broker pending result of the litigation now on.

—Sheriff Cowan reminds delinquent Schedule B and C taxpayers that under the law he is required to report them all to the Judge of the Superior Court for indictment at the next term of court. The sheriff regrets very much to do this and would be glad if all liable for those taxes would come forward and pay up without further notice. The list of delinquents is now being made.

A. & M. Examinations.

The Star is requested to announce that on Thursday, July 11th, County Superintendent Catlett will conduct an examination for admission to the A. & M. College at Raleigh. Young men who expect to enter the A. & M. College in September should by all means take the examination before going to Raleigh. An examination in the home county enables applicants to determine whether or not they are prepared for college without the expense of the trip to Raleigh and gives those who pass advantages in securing rooms in the college dormitories. The college offers 120 scholarships to bright, needy boys desiring industrial education. Examinations will be held by the superintendent in every county in the State on July 11th.

SPEAKING THIS WEEK

Mayor Springer has made arrangements for Hon. E. D. Smith, of South Carolina, General Organizer of the Southern Cotton Association, to speak in the Court House in this city on Thursday night of this week. Mr. Smith will accompany President C. C. Moore, of the North Carolina Division of the Association, to Wilmington for the purpose of presenting to the business men of this city the need of a bonded cotton warehouse at this port. Ladies as well as gentlemen are invited to hear Mr. Smith, who is possibly the most eloquent speaker listened to in this city in several years. The members of the business community are invited most cordially.

Hanover Club Social.

The first club social of Hanover Seaside Club will occur next Thursday at the club house on Wrightsville Beach. A feature of the occasion will be a bowling tournament with prizes offered for both ladies and gentlemen. The bowling contest will last through the day, and at night from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock there will be dancing. Professor Webber's orchstra will play for the dance. The Hanover club's socials always are of a most delightful character and the opening one for this season is expected to be notably so. No doubt there will be a large attendance.

PHOTOGRAPHING STARS.

When Done With Ordinary Camera They Show as Lines, Not Specks.

It is an easy matter merely to photograph stars. The trouble is to picture them as points and not as streaks, for as the earth rotates it carries the photographic apparatus with it, and the light from the star makes a line, while the astronomer wants a point.

He must therefore devise a machine that will counteract the movement of the earth and so keep the light steadily in the same place on the plate. Elaborate clockwork must turn the lens backward to keep it on the star and at the same rate as that at which the earth moves forward.

An astronomer at the Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., is quoted in St. Nicholas as saying that "many of the most important results of astronomy have been derived from the use of an ordinary camera. On a clear night point one of these toward the north pole, and it will be found after an exposure of one or two hours that the stars which lie near the pole have drawn arcs of circles upon the plate. This is due to the fact that the earth is rotating upon its axis at such a rate as to cause every star in the sky to appear to travel through a complete circle once in twenty-four hours.

The mere act of photographing is not much more difficult than a short exposure out of the window of a moving car. Any one can try it.

Let the exposure be for at least five minutes if the camera is pointed overhead and for at least one hour if directed toward the pole star. The camera may be left out all night if pointed at the pole, but must be taken in just before daylight. The longer the exposure the longer the star "scratches." Develop the plate as long as possible.

DRIVING THE LOGS.

First and foremost your true riverman can ride a log. This does not mean merely that he is able to stand upright or to jump from one to another without splashing in, though even that is no mean feat, as a trial will convince you. That is the kindergarten of it. The saw log in the water is not only his object of labor, but his means of transportation. Your true riverman on drive seldom steps on land except to eat and sleep.

A journey down stream is to him an affair of great simplicity. He pushes into the current a stick of timber, jumps lightly atop it, leans against his peavy and floats away as graceful and motionless as a Grecian statue. When his unstable craft overtakes other logs he deserts it, runs forward as far as he can, the logs bobbing and awash behind his spring, and so continues on another timber. Jack Boyd once for a bet rode for twelve miles down Grand river on a log he could carry to the stream's bank across his shoulders. Fully half the time his feet were submerged to the ankles.

Nor does quick water always cause your expert riverman to disembark. Using his peavy as a balancing pole and treading with squirrel-like quickness as his footing rolls, he will run rapids of considerable force and volume. When the tail of a dam there are always half a dozen or so of the rear men who out of sheer bravado will run through standing upright like circus riders and yelling like fiends.—Stewart Edward White in Outing Magazine.

Marriage Expenses.

Careful observation, extending over a period of forty-two years and supplemented by thousands of interviews with storekeepers, hairdressers, modistes, milliners, collectors and others, leads us to believe that the average cost of a bride's trousseau in this country—taking the rich with the poor—is the sum of $66.38. Equally careful observation convinces us that the average cost of a bridegroom's sartorial outfit is slightly less than one-third that amount, or, to be exact, $22.01. Thus we have $88.39 as the cost of the garments worn by bride and bridegroom at the average wedding and in the course of the average honeymoon. —Baltimore Sun.

"What do you think of it?" the man asked the girl as she stood before the gate.

Slowly, scornfully, the girl surveyed the house and lawn, once beautiful, but now disfigured with large signboards proclaiming the virtues of Chee-Rup Breakfast Food.

"I think," said she forcefully, "that it is simply shameful."

"Oh, come now!" said the man. "Don't you think it rather enlivens the neighborhood? This aristocratic section of the town had seemed rather dull to me lately. By the way, how did you enjoy your trip?"

"Bob," said she severely, "don't try to change the subject. As soon as they told me what you had done while I was away I came right over here to persuade you to take them all down."

"Impossible!" he cried. "I've got a contract. You wouldn't want me to break a contract, would you?"

No, she wouldn't want him to do that. One of the nicest things about Bob was his trustworthiness. Moreover, she didn't know whether the law would allow him to break it.

"Oh, Bob," she cried in sorrow, "what made you put up these unsightly things? Can't you see how they spoil the looks of the whole street? From our veranda we look directly at that big yellow one: 'Why be blue? Eat Chee-Rup Breakfast Food and be happy.'"

There were tears in her eyes.

"Oh," she continued, "I was thinking how happy I'd be to see the dear old home again, and then you must spoil it all! Oh, Bob!"

Bob felt decidedly uncomfortable, yet happier than he had for several months. She had been homesick, not, of course, for him—that was impossible—but for the town as a whole, and he was a part of it. But to show his joy might spoil the plan, and it was too early in the game to risk anything.

"So," he said, carefully controlling his voice to the tones of polite interest—"so you did miss us!"

Miss them! She thought how intensely she had missed them—and him. Yes. Bob! During the three months of her absence she had come to long for the sound of his voice, the merry laugh in his eyes. How happy she had felt when she saw him at the station the night before! Not that she meant to show her change of feeling toward him. She had refused him too emphatically before sailing to willingly acknowledge that she had made a mistake. For a time she would not acknowledge it even to herself.

But she had never thought that Bob would so destroy the beauty of his home, the home she had learned to love.

"Bob," said she again, ignoring his last question, "why did you do it?"

"I'm leaving here soon," he said, outwardly calm.

"Leaving here?" she gasped.

"Yes," he answered nonchalantly. "I'm going to the city to be nearer my business, and as I don't care to sell this place or rent it I thought I ought to think up some way of making it pay the taxes at least."

"Oh, Bob!" she cried tearfully, ambiguously. "How could you?" Then she ran precipitately to her own home.

Bob gazed after her dubiously. Perhaps her father was right, but he doubted it. Of course she had always loved Bob's place, and her ideals of beauty were both sensitive and militant. The house and yard certainly did look a sight too. The plan was worth trying. Bob felt that anything that might make her reconsider her answer to the great question which he had propounded to her was worth trying, and the income derived from the ads. was not inconsiderable. The papers had devoted a great deal of space to the discussion of the signboards being installed on such beautiful private property, and consequently the Chee-Rup food had received a great quantity of free advertising.

That night at dinner the girl informed her family that Bob was planning to move to town.

"Ah," said her father, "I heard he had a young woman on the string down there. He is very attentive to her, they say. Of course I wouldn't tell you if I thought that there was any possibility of your reconsidering the answer you gave Bob in the spring. You can't blame the boy for seeking consolation, and they say that she is very wealthy."

The girl forced herself to eat her salad calmly. So that was the reason he had taken her homecoming so easily. Another woman had captured his fancy. Well, she would keep her secret.

The next day Bob came over to the house for a conference with her father. Meeting him in the hallway, she questioned him as to the day of his departure, although she hated herself for doing it.

"Oh, in about a month!" said Bob indifferently and hurriedly.

How different from the way he used to speak to her, she thought.

During that month Bob made many trips to the city, and each morning the girl woke up to gaze from her windows at the signs with a deep accentuation of the hatred with which she had regarded them on the first day of her return. To her they began to seem the personification of the woman that had taken Bob from her—the cold, calculating business spirit. How she hated those signs! It seemed to her as if she would do anything to get rid of them. Must she live within their sight all her life, constantly reminding her of the love she had lost? The thought was unendurable, and she appealed to her father.

"I can't do anything," said he. "Bob has a contract with the Chee-Rup company, and he must live up to it. If only you had been kind to him this wouldn't have happened. To my mind it only shows what good sense Bob has. This place has no more attractions for him, so why not make it yield an income?"

The evening before the day set by Bob for his departure he called. The girl was seated on her veranda as far as possible from the sight of the signboards. Her parents had gone out for the evening, and she received Bob with a strange, sinking feeling. This might be the last time he would come to see her—alone.

"Bob," said she when he had seated himself at a safe distance—"Bob, now that you are going away, probably forever, can't you do something about those awful signboards?"

He regarded her quizzically.

"I wish I could," said he, "but you see the Chee-Rup company's contract runs for ten years, and the advertisement has proved to be so good that they would not release me unless I paid a sum of money that would absolutely break me."

Ten years! A life time!

"Bob," she cried impulsively, "I would be willing to do anything to get rid of those dreadful signs!"

Bob looked at her quickly. This was his hour. Her father and mother had even encouraged him to hope, but he hesitated at wagering his happiness on a short sentence. Nevertheless he must make the plunge some time, and the present moment seemed as propitious as any.

"So you would really like to get rid of them?" he asked. "Well, I believe we could arrange that with the company satisfactorily if you could reconsider your decision of some months ago."

She looked at him unsteadily.

"Why, Bob," she said, "I believe that you are asking me to marry you again!"

"That's just what I am doing," he said excitedly. "What's your answer?"

"But that other woman!" she cried.

He gazed at her in well simulated amazement.

"What other woman?" he asked.

"That wealthy one in the city—that business woman whom my father said you had on the string."

Bob smiled broadly.

"You evidently misunderstood in what connection I had her on the string. We are going to sell her the business."

The girl looked at him happily.

"If that's the case," said she, "I suppose I might change my answer to that question if you are sure about taking down those signs. You mustn't sacrifice a lot of money to those people, Bob. We'll need some."

"No, I'll not," said he as he folded her in his arms. "You see, your father and I happen to be the Chee-Rup Breakfast Food company, although we are on the point of selling the business to that woman in the city, and so, I guess, there will be no trouble about having that contract annulled."

Italians and Wheat Flour.

The Italian housewives of the poorer classes seem to have one unchangeable recipe for a baking. Agents of charitable societies have found this out by the women always asking for a certain number of pounds of flour, just enough for one baking, in their grocery lists. They make the flour into a number of loaves, which, put into one pan, bake into one great loaf. The size of the family seems to make no difference. If the family is small, the bread simply lasts a little longer and gets a little drier. The bread is very good when fresh. They do not use as much yeast as American cooks, and the bread is very crusty, something on the order of French bread. The poorest families also use a great deal of "polenta." This is merely flour stirred into boiling water, after the manner of old fashioned American "hasty pudding," only that flour is used instead of cornmeal. No people in the world are so devoted to wheat flour as the Italians. Whether in the form of bread, polenta or the omnipresent macaroni, it forms the bulk of their diet.—New York Globe.

ROQUEFORT CHEESE.

How the Green Mold and the Flavor Are Produced.

"To make Roquefort cheese we must have the proper raw material—sheep's milk. Of course we have sheep in America, but show me a Yankee farmer who would go to the trouble of milking sheep! It is even too much for him to milk cows, and it is the standard lamentation of all our farmers that the boys, even if they stay on the farm, do not want to do any milking Before they do such kind of work they would rather go to a business school or a college where they study agriculture, chemistry, etc.

"How is Roquefort cheese cured? The mold in the cheese is produced by moldy breadcrumbs which are ground to a green dust and mixed in the cheese curd. The country around Roquefort is very rocky. The limestone rocks are full of crevices and caves, which draw in the warm air in summer, give it out in winter, and vice versa.

"These caves have been provided by nature and improved by cellars that have been built in such a way that these natural currents of warm and cold air pass through them, where Roquefort cheese is cured. This is the way that Roquefort cheese is ripened and gets its peculiar flavor and character. It is all very well for the scientists to study the chemical process which the cheese is undergoing, but to produce this process in an artificial way is another question. Nature is the best chemist.

"The manufacture of Roquefort cheese has been tried in America, but the manufacturers did not make much of a success. Nobody manufactures Roquefort in America at present. We know of one manufacturer who tried to make Roquefort cheese of goats' milk. He boasted especially that he would use only the milk of 'imported' goats. Just think of the idea! Imported goats grazing on American pastures were expected to give better flavored milk than domestic goats. It is the climate, the special soil, atmospheric influences, etc., which produce the fine fragrant grass. The milk of the cows or goats or sheep is naturally the product of the grass they are eating, the water they are drinking, and neither this nor the climate nor the country can be imported to America—only the product which the climate or country produces. That is why neither the American Camembert nor Roquefort ever has the flavor or fragrance of the imported article in spite of all the imported goats or imported cattle or even of imported microbes."—Chicago Record-Herald.

BOOMERANG INVENTIONS.

Clisthenes introduced the custom of ostracism and was the first to be banished thereby.

Matthew Hopkins, the witch finder, was himself tried by his own tests and put to death as a wizard.

Ludovico Sforza, who invented the iron shroud, was the first to suffer death by this horrible torture.

Perillos, who invented the brazen bull for Phalaris, tyrant of Agrigentum, was the first person baked to death in the horrible monster.

The Regent Morton of Scotland, who invented the maiden, a sort of guillotine, was the first to be beheaded thereby. This was in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The bishop of Verdun, who invented the iron cages, too small to allow the person confined in them to stand upright or lie at full length, was the first to be shut up in one.

The perriere was an instrument for throwing stones of 3,000 pounds in weight, and the inventor fell a victim to his own invention by the accidental discharge of a perriere against a wall.—Scrap Book.

Old Time Bank Sinecures.

In the old days the Bank of England was paternal in its treatment of its clerks. One young fellow was distinguished only for his zeal as a member of the volunteer corps which now is defunct. His clerkly services were negligible and neglected, but when it was brought to the notice of the directors they remembered his martial ardor and gave him a nice little sinecure. Another clerk was reported to them as a really clever amateur painter. They saw his pictures. "It is a pity that such talent should be wasted over ledgers," was the kindly verdict. So they gave him a room at the bank for use as a studio and appointed him to the post of superintending the burning of canceled bank notes every Friday afternoon.—London Chronicle.

The Greek Figure.

Greek figures of men appear taller and more graceful than those of moderns. Modern artists make the upright figure seven and one-half times the length of the head. The Greeks made it eight times, lengthening the shin, and the longer sweep from knee to heel gave the figure increased grace and dignity. The same plan was frequently adopted by Lord Leighton, in whose paintings the same effect is obtained.—New York American.

Made a Difference.

Teacher—If one servant girl could clean two rooms in two hours, how long would it take two servant girls to do it? Little Girl—Four hours. Teacher—Wrong. It would only take one hour. Little Girl—Oh, I didn't know you was talking about servant girls that wasn't on speaking terms!—London Tit-Bits.

Kept His Contract.

Patient—I thought you extracted teeth without pain. Dentist—Well, you still have the pain, haven't you?—Life.

The Old Bedlam.

Bethlehem (pronounced Bedlam) is the London lunatic asylum. It was originally founded in 1247 as a priory, but is spoken of as a hospital for lunatics in 1472, and when the church was despoiled it was granted to the city of London as such an asylum. At one time the wretched inmates were exhibited to the public like so many wild beasts, as Pepys notes in his diary and Hogarth shows in one of his sketches. Patients that were harmless or half cured were given badges and released to beg in the streets. Edgar in "King Lear" impersonates one of these wandering Tom-o'-Bedlams.

What Chance Had He?

A physician tells of two young friends in his city who entered simultaneously upon their respective careers of physician and lawyer. Late one afternoon the newly made medico dashed into the room of his legal friend, exclaiming:

"Great luck, old man! Congratulate me! Got a patient at last! On my way to see him now!"

Whereupon the legal light to be clapped his friend on the back saying, "Delighted, old chap!" Then, after a slight puase, he added, with a sly grin:

"Say, let me go with you. Perhaps he hasn't made his will."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Fayetteville, June 23: The board of trustees has completed the faculty of the city graded schools by the election of a principal, E. G. Davidson, and a fourth-grade teacher, Miss Mary King, of Raleigh, daughter of Mr. David King, formerly of this city.

—Greensboro, June 23: Both of the Pomona and the Proximity cotton mills are doubling the size of their mills. This means a demand for more labor and the addition of a large number already in operation in the city. Both of these mills are doing a fine business and are among the city's most important enterprises.

—Greensboro, June 23: Bith car line which connects Piedmont Heights with the city is now complete and cars are running over the line all of the way to the city's new suburb. This opens up a fine resident section of the city and many lots have been sold there. This gives Greensboro more than ten miles of street line and more is being contemplated and maybe constructed soon.

—Greensboro, June 23: The Fourth of July will be observed in elaborate style at Guilford Battle Ground this year. A band from Jamestown has been engaged to furnish music, there will be an attendance of State troops and Senator Lee S. Overman will deliver an address. It is hoped to dedicate two granite shafts—one to the cavalry arm of the service and the other to Greene's Regulars. The Southern will give special rates on this occasion.

—Wilson, N. C., June 22: On the plantation of Jonathan Applewhite, nine miles from Wilson, Howard Knight shot Cicero Sessions, filling his arm full of birdshot. Both are negroes. This afternoon a negro woman, name unknown, was found murdered in Black Creek. From meagre details obtainable, it developed that in a fight a negro woman was struck on the head and died suddenly. Sheriff Sharp wired the constable at Black Creek to make an arrest and investigate the killing. Clarence Ward, colored, was arrested here this afternoon on a charge of outrage committed eight months ago on a girl in Edgecombe county. This afternoon Hines Pridgen, white, was arrested near Elm City. He was brought to Wilson and is now in jail. He is charged with an attempt to assault his 11-year-old sister-in-law.

—Mooresville, June 23: Broadie Allen Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kennedy, who live near Mazeppa, was struck by lightning yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock and instantly killed. The young man, in company with two other young men of the neighborhood and his brother, were returning from a neighbor's house and when within about one hundred yards of his home the bolt of lightning came. All of the boys were severely stunned by the shock and all were knocked down. His brother was the first to recover and he summoned help, and it was soon learned that Broadie was dead. Will Hobbs, one of the boys was so severely stunned than an hour passed before he returned to consciousness. The deceased was a bright young man and yesterday was his 15th birthday. A severe rain, wind and hail storm visited this section of the county yesterday afternoon, doing much damage to growing crops. One man who was in town lost two fine hogs, killed by lightning.

—Statesville, June 23: During a severe electric storm about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon lightning set fire to the steeple of the First Methodist Church and the steeple and vestibule were almost completely destroyed. Water also did considerable damage and the loss will probably reach $2,000. When the bolt of lightning struck the steeple a number of the people living near the church felt the shock and went to their doors immediately to investigate. All, of course, expected to find the steeple badly torn, but there was no evidence of the work of the bolt for near 20 minutes, when the people some distance away noticed a small blaze near the top of the steeple, which was 117 feet high. The alarm was given at once in the neighborhood, but owing to the fact that the 'phone system had been cut out on account of the storm, those discovering the fire were forced to run several blocks to the fire house before the company was called. The fire department and citizens who happened to hear the alarm or see the fire were on the scene in a short time, and the fight to save the main building and the handsome new pipe organ was begun at once.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 24.—The cotton market was more active today and from a new low level for the new crop positions during the early session had quite a sharp advance, with the close very steady at a net gain of 11 to 22 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 350,000 bales. The opening was barely steady at a decline of 4 to 9 points under liquidation and selling by local bears as a result of weak cables and favorable interpretation of the weather map. October sold at 11.25 on the call and the bears had evidently expected stop loss orders around this level. Instead spot people and trade interests appeared to be buying and later the market reflected an improvement in the volume of outside business on reports that the better weather in the South was merely making more evident the unfavorable start of the crop and the poor character of the stands resulting either from unsatisfactory seed or from the bad weather during April and May. There was considerable covering for by buyers for a turn at the advance but there was no aggressive selling and closed at practically the best prices of the day.

Receipts at the ports today were 4,788 bales against 3,625 last week and 5,492 last year. For the week 25,000 bales against 25,948 last week, and 30,798 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 588 bales against 1,853 last year and at Houston 305 bales against 160 last year.

Spot cotton closed firm; middling uplands 13.00; middling gulf 13.25; sales 6,800 bales. Futures opened barely steady.

The Biggest Kind of a Change that Ever Happened to Any Magazine Has Happened This Month to

THE SCRAP BOOK

THE SCRAP BOOK for July is issued in two sections—two complete magazines, each with its own cover and its own table of contents. One of these sections is an ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine; the other is an ALL-FICTION magazine. Each is a mammoth magazine in itself. The one presents an overwhelming array of human interest articles and illustrations; the other an enormous tonnage of fiction—160 pages of absorbing stories.

Ten years ago I created a new type of magazine—the ALL-FICTION magazine. Now I am creating another distinct type—the ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine. This is the age of specialization. The conventional magazine, with its smattering of illustrations and its smattering of fiction and its smattering of special articles, doesn't contain enough of any one thing to make it satisfying. The ALL-FICTION magazine and the ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine, joined together as a unit, strengthen each other, and make something really big and forceful and convincing.

The Only Way to Know a Thing is to Try It

The two-section magazine idea is brand-new to the world. It is not quite new with me, however, as I have given it, at odd times, four or five years of thought. It first came into my mind in response to a desire to couple, in some way, the strength of the all-fiction magazine with the illustrated features of the conventional magazine. It has been a difficult problem to work out. Now that the idea is perfected, I wish to see what there is in it. It looks to me to be very good, but the only way to know a thing is to try it.

Two Magazines for a Quarter—Easy Money

The price of this two-part magazine is twenty-five cents, which is equal to twelve and one-half cents a magazine. Most magazines which were selling at ten cents have been advanced to fifteen cents. THE SCRAP BOOK in two parts means two magazines for twenty-five cents against thirty cents for two fifteen cent magazines.

LOVING CASE IN VIRGINIA

Beginning of Sensational Murder Trial Yesterday in Which Ex-Judge is Defendant.

HIS DAUGHTER WRONGED

Rode Some Miles and Shot to Death Young Man Who had Been Riding With His Daughter—Be lieved He Had Taken Liberties.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Houston, Va., June 24.—The trial of former Judge W. G. Loving for the murder of young Theodore Estes, a sequel of a buggy ride which Estes took with Loving's daughter, advanced rapidly today and when court adjourned this afternoon the prosecution had rested and the defense begun its case. The progress of the trial was remarkable. Before adjournment of the morning session a jury had been secured, mostly middle aged men, and all but three of them married; eleven of them being farmers, the lone exception being a merchant; the taking of testimony began upon the reconvening of the court and late this afternoon the commonwealth rested its case and Judge Loving, whose defense is the unwritten law, had taken the witness stand in his own behalf.

A large crowd was present but perfect order was observed. The trial eclipses in interest and sensation the McCue and the Strother-Bywaters cases in Clupepper. Judge Loving armed with a double barreled shotgun, instantly killed young Estes while he was unloading a car of fertilizer in Oak Ridge on April 22 following a buggy ride on the evening before by young Estes and Miss Elizabeth Loving, the 19-year-old daughter of Judge Loving.

The girl when brought home had been drinking and it is alleged that her escort had mistreated her. Acting under the impulse that his daughter had been drugged and assaulted, Judge Loving immediately went in search of Estes. After the shooting he said "I shot to kill. Every drop of blood in my body called for vengeance. I would have gone a hundred miles to kill him."

Miss Loving, who has lived in seclusion since the tragedy, appeared in public yesterday for the first time. She showed no signs of her experience. Two special coaches from Lynchburg, one reserved by the defence and the other by the prosecution brought 110 witnesses and two corps of lawyers here last night.

WARM WIRELETS.

The Jamestown Exposition directors yesterday met and gave Director General Barr absolute authority and recommended measures of retrenchment, including a reduction of the salary list very materially.

One person was fatally and nine others were more or less seriously injured in a collision of two electric cars on a curve near North Attleboro, Mass., yesterday.

A telegram last night says that there has been no change in the condition of Bishop Capers, of South Carolina, at Cedar Mountain, N. C., since Sunday when his brain and spine were affected. Hope has not been entirely abandoned but Bishop's condition is most serious. Members of the family have arrived at his bedside.

The fatalities reported yesterday as a result of a railroad wreck at Hartford, Conn., Sunday night, caused by a passenger and work train colliding, are eight. At least two other victims of the disaster appear beyond all hope of recovery. Of the 56 Italian workmen who were on the train only a few escaped unhurt, the list of injured being about forty. The engineer of the "dinky" train, Jerome Wilson of this city, was badly scalded.

Chambers of commerce of five Japanese cities yesterday adopted resolutions which will later be forwarded to American commercial bodies asking co-operation in seeing that the San Francisco affair does not disturb the trade relations between the two countries. The proprietors of the Japanese restaurant raided by hoodlums in San Francisco have entered suit in the State courts to recover damages from the city of San Francisco for their loss. District Attorney Delvin will represent the Japanese plaintiffs in the suit for the government.

Five persons were killed and a score more or less seriously injured at 11 o'clock Sunday night on the Auburn branch of the New York Central Railroad, one mile east of Pittsford, N. Y., when a passenger train crashed into a freight train. The smoking car was telescoped and four of the fifteen passengers were instantly killed. The fifth victim was Emmet Lyons, 14 year old son of Engineer Lyons, of the freight, who was in the cab with his father. Engineer Lyons is not expected to live. There are twelve injured in Rochester hospitals, all of whom, with the exception of Lyons, are expected to recover.

He Fired the Stick.

"I have fired the walking-stick I've carried over 40 years, on account of a sore that resisted every kind of treatment, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve; that has healed the sore and made me a happy man," writes John Garrett, of North Mills, N. C. Guaranteed for Piles, Burns, Etc., by R. R. Bellamy, druggist, 25s.

UNWRITTEN LAW IN BELGIUM

KILLED SISTER'S SUITOR

All Members to Tragedy Were Members of Chilian Diplomatic Corps. After Engagement Dinner Balmeceda Refused to Marry.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Brussels, June 24.—The trial of Charles Waddington, the 16-year old son of Senor Luis Waddington, former charge d'affairs of Chili at Brussels, on the charge of murdering Senor Balmaceda, secretary of the Chilian legation, February 24 last, opened today. The court was crowded with members of society, well dressed people, and diplomats. The prisoner's father sat with counsel for the defence. On a table in front of the judges were displayed the blood stained rug on which Balamceda died, and the revolver with which he was shot. Balmaceda was engaged to be married to Miss Waddington, the daughter of Senor Waddington, and a leading member of Brussels society. The murder occurred on the evening of the official engagement dinner. A few days before the tragedy Balmaceda requested the Waddington's to postpone the wedding ceremony, and on the morning of February 24, he called upon Mrs. Waddington and announced his decision to withdraw from the marriage altogether. He admitted, it is charged, that he had behaved improperly towards Miss Waddington, but accused the young woman of having misbehaved before he met her. Later when young Carles Waddington found his mother prostrated as a result of the interview with Balmaceda he drove to the home of the latter who was his personal friend, and after a quarrel, shot and killed him.

The contention of the Balmaceda family is that the Waddington's had tried to force the marriage upon the young secretary of the legation and that upon his refusing they resolved to get rid of him. The Waddington's submit as justification for Carlos' act that Balmaceda had refused to redress the wrong he had done Miss Waddington.

Judge Pritchard Issues Another Injunction Aagainst Law.

Asheville, N. C., June 24.—On the application of Cravatte, Henderson and Gersdorff, representing the Standard Trust Company, of New York, and Charles W. Tillett, of Charlotte, Judge J. C. Pritchard, of United States Circuit Court today, granted temporary injunction against the Carolina and North western Railroad Company and the North Carolina Corporation Commission to prevent the enforcement of the North Carolina two and a quarter cent passenger rate law, which goes into effect July 1. The injunction is returnable before Pritchard Saturday at which time other railroad cases involving the same principle will be heard.

Mountain of the Sacred Footprint.

Adam's peak, or Mount Samanala, a rugged mountain in the island of Ceylon, is known throughout the orient as the "Mountain of the Sacred Footprint." In a flat, rocky basin at the foot of this mountain in stone as hard as blue granite there is the perfect imprint of a gigantic human foot, five and one-half feet long by two and one-half feet wide. The Ceylonese Brahmans have a legend to the effect that the imprint was made by Adam, our first parent, but the Buddhists declare that it could have been made by no one but Buddha.

HUNDRED SHOTS WERE EXCHANGED

Recent Raid of Revenue Officers on Moonshiners in North Carolina Mountains.

THIRTY-FIVE WERE CAPTURED

Moonshiners Put Up Hot Fight, But Finally Surrendered and were Carried to Prison in Chains. Fourteen Stills Destroyed

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Asheville, N. C., June 24.—The party of revenue officers who had a fight with moonshiners in Stokes county on Friday last, returned here today, having captured thirty-five moonshiners, and destroyed thirteen illicit stills. The captured men were chained together and taken to Mount Airy, this State, where they were remanded to Surry county jail, by United States Commissioner W. W. Simmons. The officers say that between three and four hundred shots were exchanged with the mountaineers in the darkness when the atack was made, beginning about 3 o'clock Friday morning. It is thought that several of the blockaders were wounded but the officers did not stop to learn the facts, being anxious to ge away with their prisoners before there was an opportunity for rescue.

Among those taken were James Smith, the ring leader of the illicit distillers in that section and at one time a government revenue collector. The capture was effected by surrounding the camp of the moonshiners, who surrendered after a fight of fifteen or twenty minutes.
